REST Countries API

REST Countries

- Use Case: Fetch country data (name, capital, currency, etc.)
- Best For: Travel apps, geography quizzes, dashboards
- Why? Free, easy to use, no API key required
- <https://restcountries.com>

JSONPlaceholder

- Use Case: Fake REST API for testing & prototyping
- Best For: Mock data for blogs, todos, user profiles
- Why? No authentication, simple endpoints
- <https://jsonplaceholder.typicode.com>

OpenWeatherMap

- Use Case: Real-time weather data & forecasts
- Best For: Weather apps, travel planners, event apps
- Why? Free tier available, detailed metrics
- <https://openweathermap.org/api>

The screenshot shows the 'Weather API' page on the OpenWeatherMap website. The navigation bar at the top includes links for Guide, API, Dashboard, Marketplace, Pricing, Maps, Our Initiatives, Partners, Blog, For Business, Sign in, and Support. The main content area is titled 'Weather API' and includes a breadcrumb trail 'Home / Weather API'. A paragraph explains that users should sign up to use the fast and easy-to-work weather APIs, recommending the 'One Call API 3.0' for a start, with more functionality available in professional collections. The 'One Call API 3.0' section features a 'Subscribe' button and a list of data types accessible via API calls: Current weather and forecasts (minute, hourly, and daily), Weather data for any timestamp (46+ years historical archive and 4 days ahead forecast), Daily aggregation of weather data (46+ years archive and 1.5 years ahead forecast), and Weather overview (human-readable summary for today and tomorrow's forecast). A pricing section titled 'Pay as you call' offers '1,000 API calls per day for free' at '0.0012 GBP per API call over the daily limit', with a 'Subscribe' button. A note states that this is a separate subscription plan including only the One Call API. The footer includes a link to the FAQ and a small profile icon for 'Ulla Weather Assi'.
